

History Initial Assignment

Task one:

In preparation for starting your A Level History studies, we would like you to look into Russian History, which will be the first unit we will be doing. There are a selection of videos below that you can watch and think about some of the main events that we will be learning. This is a really good starting point to your studies.

Task two: Key terms

In History it is really important that you use key terms when it comes to your essays. When you enrol and go to the subject desk, you will be handed a glossary. You will need to research the terms we have left on there for you and come up with a definition. This will then be used regularly in lessons, so make sure you keep it safe.
